We are currently accepting 2014-2015 Outstanding Physics GSI* Nominations until 5 PM, Wednesday, March 4, 2015!
*Graduate Student Instructor

Criteria for the Award:

• overall effectiveness as an instructor
• capacity to motivate and inspire students
• skills in presenting course material
• skills in organizing and developing course material
• command of the subject area
• instructor evaluations

The GSI Teaching and Resource Center will host a reception to honor OGSI winners from all departments in early May. Besides a certificate of commendation from Graduate Division, each OGSI receives a monetary award, plus a membership in the American Association of Physics Teachers and a subscription to the AAPT Journal.

All Spring 2014 and Fall 2014 Physics GSIs, except previous OGSI winners are eligible. Spring 2015 GSIs teaching for first time will not be considered, as student evaluations are integral to the OGSI selection process. The following are 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 OGIs:

2012-2013
Shuokai Chang
Philipp Dumitrescu
Michael Galczynski
David Gee
John Haberstroh
